A close-up photograph of a shallow, clear stream bed. The water is a vibrant greenish-blue, reflecting the surrounding environment. The bottom of the stream is covered with a mix of smooth, light-colored stones and smaller, darker pebbles. The water is very still, creating a clear view of the rocky 底.

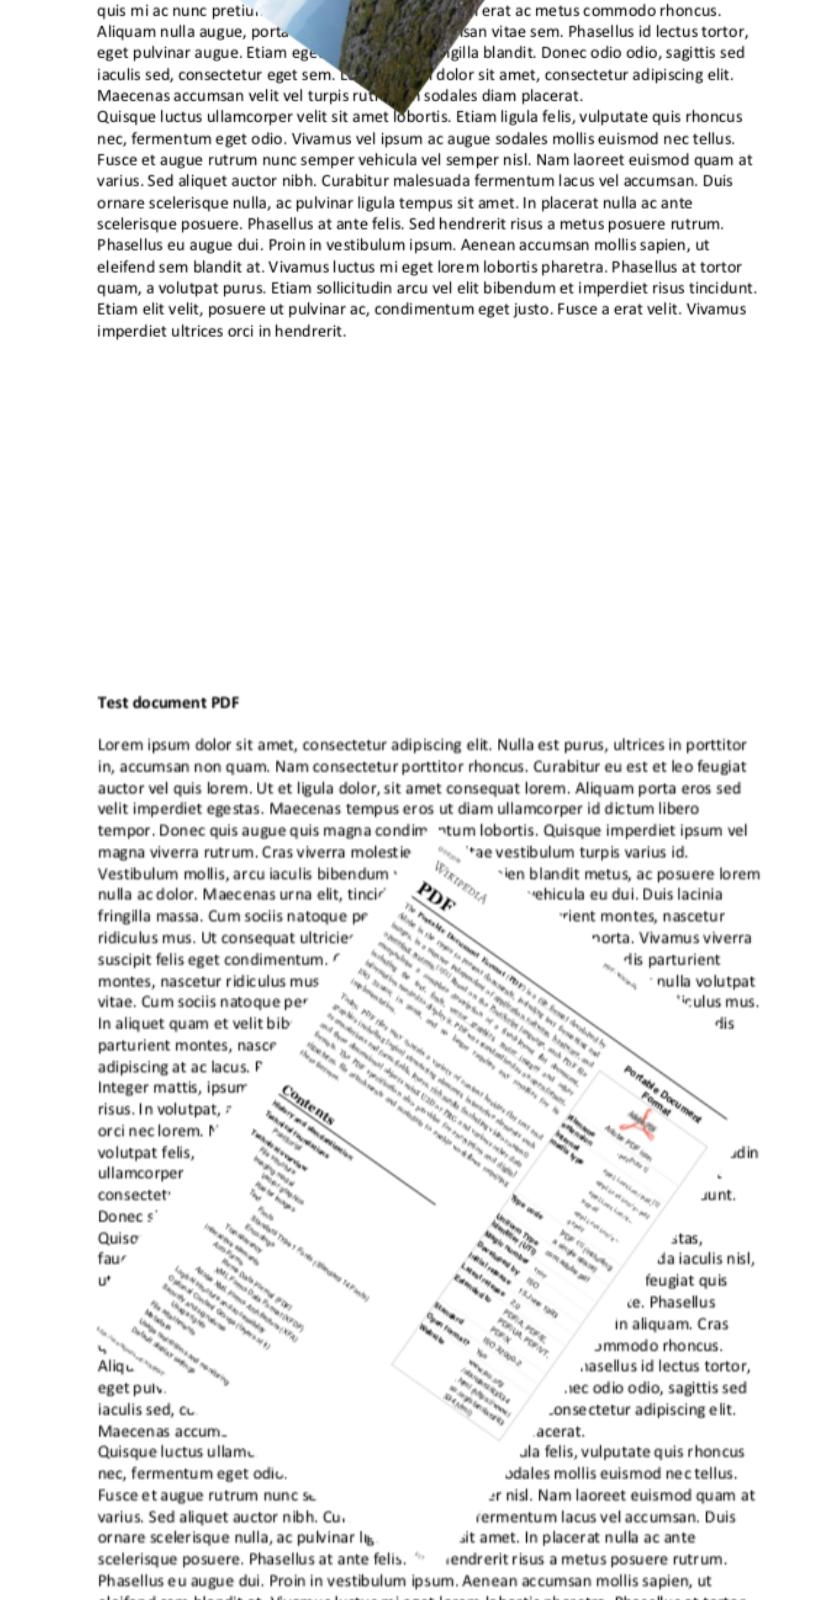

A close-up photograph of a shallow stream bed. The surface is covered with small, smooth stones and pebbles of various sizes and colors, including white, brown, and orange. The water is clear enough to see the bottom.

A close-up photograph of a rocky beach. The ground is covered with a mix of light-colored, smooth stones and darker, more angular pebbles. Interspersed among them are small, delicate white flowers, possibly sea thrift or similar coastal flora. The lighting suggests a bright, sunny day.
